About EHRC

Our primary role at Electricity Human Resources Canada (EHRC) is to keep the lights on by preparing and empowering a world-class workforce for the entire electricity industry. As a national non-profit we are an unbiased convenor of stakeholders that work together to ensure that we have a workforce that is safety-focused, highly skilled, diverse, and productive.

EHRC regards diversity, equity, and inclusion as being the cornerstone of a sustainable energy economy and workforce. In many occupations, women, Indigenous people, racialized people, persons with disabilities, 2SLGBTQI+, gender diverse people and newcomers to Canada represent a much smaller component than they should—and they continue to face barriers that limit their advancement or their desire to remain in the occupation of their choice. To actively remedy this disparity and drive commitment to a diverse workforce, EHRC has developed the Leadership Accord on Diversity, Equity and Inclusion, a public commitment by Canadian employers, educators, unions, associations and governments to advance, integrate and prioritize diversity, equity and inclusion in their organization's policies, processes, culture, and workplace environment to proactively create a diverse, inclusive and equitable workplace.

Agents of Change 2022

October 12-13, 2022 | Toronto Public Library, Toronto (ON)

The Power of Change

After 2 years of virtual events due to Covid 19, EHRC is excited to be back to in-person events. The annual Agents of Change Conference is EHRC's flagship event on diversity, equity, and inclusion and is one of EHRC's many initiatives to move the agenda forward in creating and sustaining a level of inclusion that will drive innovation in our businesses, equitable income for employees, and create workplaces where all employees feel valued, respected, and heard.

The theme for this year is "The Power of Change" - sparking new ideas and driven by the need to share case studies and prompt larger conversations about how efforts to build inclusive workplaces must consider diversity from an organization-wide perspective. Participants will have opportunities to hear from a range of inspiring speakers and exchange best practices with their industry colleagues

The event will also see the recipient of the 2022 Agent of Change Award announced. This award is presented to an individual in the industry who is making tremendous efforts to advance diversity, equity, and inclusion in Canada.
